

NABA - Nuova Accademia di Belle Arti Milano

NABA is the largest private academy in Italy legally recognized by the Italian Ministry of Education, University and Research (MIUR). NABA was founded in 1980 in the core of the capital of fashion and design by Ausonio Zappa and a group of artists such as Guido Ballo, Gianni Colombo, Franco Grignani, Carlo Mo, Emilio Tadini, Tito Varisco and Luigi Veronesi, with the objective of questioning the strictness of academic tradition and introducing visions and languages closer to the contemporary artistic practices and to the system of art and creative professions.

In late 2009 NABA became part of the Laureate International Universities Network, a global network of over 80 accredited institutions of higher education in 28 countries offering undergraduate and postgraduate degree programs to 1.000.000 students around the world, creating a more international environment.
